Precision Lasts

The First Step to Success

The last is the foundation of every shoe. Make it right and a last will ensure great fit, comfort and performance.

We have crafted precision lasts for the world's best footwear companies for more than 80 years. While footwear technology and manufacturing has changed immensely in this time, one thing remains unchanged: great model makers create great lasts.

Combining decades of knowledge and experienced craftsmanship in last model-making with the power of today's 3D CAD systems, enables Jones & Vining to realize the brand vision in your design. Every curve and contour counts at retail.

The process starts when our master last makers and your design team begin to work together. Understanding that even the smallest change to a heel height or tread-point can make a dramatic difference throughout the shoe, we work with you to identify and solve challenges before they go to production.

Jones & Vining revolutionized the footwear industry with the invention of our Compu-Last system, which today has become the standard for the way data transfer systems are used in last making worldwide. Using that foundation, we ensure that our factories make precise production lasts to make shoes anywhere in the world.

All Jones & Vining lasts are custom made, providing exclusivity for each brand.

We provide all forms of grading standards to meet the needs of the worldwide market.

Jones & Vining lasts are available in all sizes, widths and genders, and can be designed for most constructions.

All trims, plates, hinges, tubes and markers are available.

All lasts are made under strict quality control guidelines in our Jones & Vining owned and operated manufacturing facilities.
